National public sector strike planned for 10th May in the United Kingdom

Dear Customer,

we inform you that there could be inconveniences for travellers in United Kingdom due to a public sector strike that will affect transport, including immigration control, on 10th May.

A lot of members from various unions, including Rail, Maritime and Transport (RMT), Immigration Services and Public and Commercial Services have announced they intend to participate in the action on 10th May.

The move will affect UK border control points, potentially adding further delays at Heathrow's passport control.

Transport for London (TfL) is expecting services to run as normal. However, it advises that travellers check for updates on the TfL site over the next few days: www.tfl.gov.uk.

Air traffic controllers will not be participating in the industrial action due to the proposed strike relating to public sector workers only, not NATS.

For any further information, please contact your CWT office.

Best regards
