National general strike in Greece – 16th July

Dear Customer,

We would like to inform you that two largest local unions have called for a 24-hour general national strike on Tuesday, July 16th, in Greece of workers of all professions.

Public transport (including the Athens metro) will not work regularly and will therefore be difficult to move to / from the airports.

Flight controllers should not participate in the strike and international flights should be guaranteed, but disruptions are likely.

It is advisable to check in advance the status of your flight on the website of the International Airport of Athens and of your airline.

For further information, your CWT office is still available.

Best regards,
